

Great Zimbabwe

Reclaiming a 'Confiscated' Past

Shadreck Chirikure

Contents

List of figures	xi
List of tables	xv
Foreword	xvi
Preface	xviii
Acknowledgements	xx
Glossary of Shona concepts	xxiv

PART I

Learning, relearning, and unlearning Great Zimbabwe 1

1	Unveiling a ‘confiscated’ past	3
2	Background to ‘Shona’ concepts and the Great Zimbabwe nyika (territory)	26
3	Biography of Great Zimbabwe: late 18th to 21st centuries	56
4	Chronology of Great Zimbabwe – relative, absolute, and integrated	78

PART II

Objects, their context, and meaning 111

5	Misha nedzimba : on homesteads and households	113
6	Hari , or pottery	137
7	Crafts, science, technology, and innovation	165
8	Exotics: fame, prestige, and value	198

PART III

Native cosmologies and ways of knowing 223

9 Rise and decline: resilience of Great Zimbabwe 225

10 Urbanism and statehood 257

11 'Reclaimed' Great Zimbabwe in a wider context: from Egyptian
pyramids to decolonised global pasts 275

Index 303

List of figures

0.1	Great Zimbabwe	xix
1.1	Map of Zimbabwe showing the location of Great Zimbabwe	4
1.2	Map of the landscape around Great Zimbabwe showing boundaries of estates and surrounding farms. Note that Hall plots Mugabe's kraal on the Hill Complex. Two major public roads pass through the site (redrawn from Hall 1905: 7)	10
1.3	Photograph of Dzimbahwe Hill, a sacred shrine, dongo, and abode of ancestors	16
2.1	Photograph showing the imposing and aesthetically pleasing dry stone masonry of the Great Enclosure (viewed from the north-west)	27
2.2	Map of Zimbabwe showing the approximate distribution of modern ethnic groups. The name Karanga, now applied to southerners, was applied to the northerners before colonisation	29
2.3	Map of Great Zimbabwe showing walled and unwalled settlements	34
2.4	Map of the landscape around Great Zimbabwe showing boundary demarcations made in the 1890s and the 720-hectare large Great Zimbabwe (redrawn from Musindo 2019)	36
2.5	Photograph of Dzimbahwe Hill or Hill Complex covered in guti (mist), in August 2018	39
2.6	Map of Zimbabwe showing natural farming regions originally defined by Vincent, Thomas, and Staples (1961)	40
2.7	Map showing the distribution of chiefdoms and ethnic groups in south-central Zimbabwe (modified after Mazarire 2013b)	45
3.1	Map of Great Zimbabwe sketched by R.N. Hall showing a road passing between the Hill and the Valley Enclosures (from Hall 1905: 9)	59
3.2	Sketch map of the Hill Complex by R.N. Hall showing a parallel passage inside the Western Enclosure. The entrance was closed when the internal wall collapsed	60
3.3	Map of Great Zimbabwe showing the location of golf courses that were discontinued in the 1970s (based on the base map from Musindo 2019)	61
3.4	Photograph showing Great Zimbabwe Site Museum and Lilian Hodges' Hut on the right: this was built on top of the Camp Ruins	62

3.5	Photograph of the curio shop and surrounds where house floors and artefacts were recovered. Owing to the low regard for unwallled settlements, the curio shop was built on hugely significant remains. This area is close to the access to the Hill, again emphasising the little regard for misha without dry stone walls	63
3.6	Map of Great Zimbabwe showing excavations by amateurs and antiquarians	71
3.7	Map showing excavations by professional archaeologists	72
3.8	Photograph of imported ceramics from Great Zimbabwe. Top left was recovered from the Valley Enclosures by D. P. Collet while the remainder are in the Iziko Museums of South Africa	73
3.9	Photograph of soapstone bird from Great Zimbabwe sitting on Cecil John Rhodes' cabinet of curiosities at Groote Schuur, Cape Town. The soapstone pendants are in the Great Zimbabwe Conservation Centre while the bowls are on display in the Natural History Museum in Bulawayo	74
4.1	Photograph of the 'scars' left by the Department of Public Works: no records were kept. Robinson's Test 1 was located to the left of the trees in the centre of the picture	82
4.2	Stratigraphic section of Robinson's Test 1. Note that the deposit from 0 up to 5 was shovelled away by the Public Works Department in the early 20th century. The vertical scale is in feet (1 foot = 0.3048 m) (after Robinson 1961a; dates with M are Michigan and are by Summers et al. 1961; dates with Pta are from Huffman and Vogel 1991)	83
4.3	Photograph of Wall 55 on the southern terraces: the collapse on the right was reconstructed and restored	84
4.4	Photograph showing the collapse after vegetation clearance	84
4.5	Photograph of step excavations to identify problems that triggered collapse: the ranging pole is resting on the wall foundation	85
4.6	Section drawing of the collapse, showing excavation below Wall 55	86
4.7	Photograph of the location of Upper Terrace Midden sited between the two trees	87
4.8	Upper Terrace Midden excavation	87
4.9	Photograph of the Great Enclosure	88
4.10	Section drawing of the car park excavation	90
4.11	Section drawing of the Barrier Hut excavations	91
4.12	Fireguard Midden 1 plan and excavation section	92
4.13	Section drawings of the Mujejeje excavations	93
4.14	Pottery Classes from Great Zimbabwe (redrawn from Robinson 1961b)	94
4.15	Map of Great Zimbabwe showing the distribution of different wall types (after Chirikure et al. 2013)	95
4.16	Fragments of Chinese celadon bowl recovered from Upper Terrace Midden	97

4.17 Portuguese ceramic imitation of a conus shell (ndoro) recovered from Great Zimbabwe (Great Zimbabwe Conservation Centre Archives File 2030BD) together with Photograph of original ndoro on display at the Natural History Museum, Bulawayo	98
5.1 Traditional Shona village reconstructed at Great Zimbabwe based on ethnographic information	115
5.2 Layout of houses in the Maund Ruin (redrawn from Caton-Thompson 1931)	117
5.3 Platforms with houses on top, western slopes, Hill Complex	118
5.4 Layout of houses outside the walls (redrawn from Huffman 2007)	119
5.5 Q type walls, outer curtain wall, and conical tower inside the Great Enclosure	121
5.6 Photograph of the dhaka pit in front of Camp Ruins	122
5.7 Remnant solid dhaka walls on the Camp Ruins, in front of the Great Zimbabwe Site Museum door	123
5.8 Photograph of a house in the Western Enclosure, Hill Complex: note the central fireplace and back platform, chikuva (bottom). Top: Plan of Posselt Hut, Valley Enclosures (redrawn from Ndoro 2001)	124
5.9 Illustration of house plans across Great Zimbabwe (adapted from Chirikure et al. 2018)	125
5.10 Photograph of a section of deposit exposed by Public Works Department in the Western Enclosure near the collapse of South Wall	127
6.1 Pottery from Great Zimbabwe in the collection donated by Cecil John Rhodes to the South African Museum. The material was excavated by either Bent or Hall	140
6.2 The local system of pottery classification showing different types based on the function which determines form, size, and use	148
6.3 Illustrations of pottery from the excavations and estimations of projected shapes	155
7.1 Photograph of tuyeres from the Hill Complex	174
7.2 Photographs of crucibles exposed during the excavations of the Fireguard Midden	175
7.3 Photographs of different types of crucibles recovered from Great Zimbabwe (after Bandama et al. 2017)	176
7.4 Clapperless iron gongs recovered from Great Zimbabwe (this is described by Hall 1905 and is on display at the Great Zimbabwe Site Museum) (photographed with the permission of the National Museums and Monuments of Zimbabwe)	177
7.5 Photograph of copper sheeting recovered from Great Zimbabwe, Hill Complex	178
7.6 Assortment of gold objects from Great Zimbabwe, on display at Great Zimbabwe Site Museum (photographed under permit from National Museums of Zimbabwe)	178

7.7	Copper needles and spindle whorl recovered from Great Zimbabwe	180
7.8	Photograph of soapstone objects from Great Zimbabwe. Top: soapstone bowls, Middle: soapstone pendants, Bottom: fragments of soapstone columns	182
7.9	Photograph of pottery from Great Zimbabwe	183
7.10	Photograph of cattle remains from Great Zimbabwe	186
8.1	Schematic representation of the fit between sizes of some of the major politico-economic zones in the world in light of the size of Africa (redrawn from The Economist)	202
8.2	Selected imported glass beads recovered from Great Zimbabwe	205
8.3	Imported ceramics from Great Zimbabwe in the Cecil John Rhodes collection. The exception is one recovered by David Collett from Valley Enclosures (top left)	210
8.4	Selected objects from the Render's Ruin hoard at Great Zimbabwe. Objects on display at the Great Zimbabwe Site Museum	211
8.5	Coin with Arabic inscription recovered by Tom Huffman in the early 1970s, and currently on display in the Great Zimbabwe Site Museum	212
9.1	Photograph showing concentration of animal bone in Upper Terrace Midden. Cattle bone was found in high numbers across the site	234
9.2	Photograph showing gold and glass beads which featured in exchange relationships between Great Zimbabwe and the Indian Ocean	237

List of tables

3.1	Names used to describe Great Zimbabwe and its major components	65
4.1	Radiocarbon dates from the Hill Complex calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	99
4.2	Radiocarbon dates from Wall 55 and the Upper Terrace Midden calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	100
4.3	Radiocarbon dates for the Great Enclosure calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	101
4.4	Radiocarbon dates from the Eastern Ridge Ruin (Mauch Ruin) calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	101
4.5	Radiocarbon dates from Great Zimbabwe's unwallled areas where the Curio Shop lies near the Camp Ruins calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	102
4.6	Radiocarbon dates from unwallled settlements west of the site calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	102
4.7	Radiocarbon dates for the Fireguard Midden and adjacent areas calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	103
4.8	Radiocarbon dates for Mujejeje calibrated using Oxcal Version 4.3	103
6.1	Archaeological descriptions of pottery from Great Zimbabwe	145
6.2	Combined and juxtaposed local pottery classes (ethnographic) alongside standard archaeological descriptions by Robinson (1961b)	151
6.3	Great Zimbabwe Period IV pottery from unwallled areas	153
6.4	Local functional–typological classification of pottery from unwallled areas	156
8.1	Distances between Great Zimbabwe and various regions within and beyond Africa	217