

Khoesan and Imperial Citizenship in Nineteenth Century South Africa

Jared McDonald

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Glossary	ix
Introduction: Exploring Khoesan “Voice” and Agency in Nineteenth Century South Africa	1
1 Masters and Subjects: The British Occupations and Khoesan Subjecthood, 1795–1828	18
2 Subjecthood in Contest: The Demise and Incorporation of San, 1806–1830	57
3 Imperial Citizenship and Nationalism: Civil Rights, Political Consciousness, and the Deployment of Loyalty as Resistance, 1828–1834	73
4 Competing Loyalties: Masters, Missionaries, and the Monarch, 1830–1850	110
5 From Resistance to Rebellion: Khoesan Loyalism and Its Discontents, 1849–1858	154
Epilogue: Khoesan and the Making of Imperial Citizens	188
Appendix: Note on Terminology	198
Works Cited	200
Index	216