
Psychoanalysis, the Self, and the World

Postphenomenology, Consciousness, and Death

Mark Leffert

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
1 So Why Do We Need Philosophy Anyway?: Phenomenology, Postmodernism, and the Plague in the Psychoanalytic Workplace	17
Introduction	17
Phenomenology	22
Existentialism	30
The Plagues	31
The Postmodern Turn	40
To Sum Up	46
2 The Evo-Devo of Phenomenology and Prephenomenology	53
Introduction	53
Evo-Devo	56
Paleoanthropology, the Evo-Devo of Human Mental Hardware: An Archaeology of the Self	58
Prephenomenology	64
Becoming Us—The Passing of Prephenomenology and the Advent of Phenomenology	69
The Devo of Phenomenology	74
3 Postphenomenology and Its Evo-Devo	85
Introduction	85
A Brief History of Postphenomenology	87
Postphenomenal Neuroscience and Its Evo-Devo	91

Cyborgs	93
Smartphones—The Quintessential Postphenomenal Tool	95
Cyberspace	99
The Psychology of Cyberspace and Its Inhabitants	103
Virtual Relationships	108
Existentialism and Absurdity in Cyberspace	109
Conclusions	111
4 Consciousness and Unconsciousness: A Fresh Appraisal	120
Introduction	120
Where We Have Gotten to—A Brief History	122
Complexity and Consciousness	127
Animal Consciousness?	128
So Where Do We Go from Here?	132
Toward a Philosophy of Consciousness	135
The Preconscious Revisited	137
Consciousness, Absurdity, and Meaning	141
5 Death and Death Anxiety: A Further Search for Meaning	150
Introduction	150
My Appointment in Samarra	151
Death	156
Death Anxiety	163
Suicide	173
Afterword	185
Index	196