

Marco Brunetti

NERO'S DOMUS AUREA RECONSTRUCTION AND RECEPTION OF THE VOLTA DORATA

Table of Contents

7	Abstract	106	2.3 The Figural Programme of the Volta Dorata: The 'Central Medallion'	221	11. Appendix III – Ludovico Mirri's Engravings Album (Mirri/Carletti 1776), Louvre Album des Bains de Titus (Coloured Engravings), Giuseppe Carletti's Descriptions (Carletti 2014)
11	Acknowledgements	110	2.4 The Figural Programme of the Volta Dorata: The 'Internal Area'
15	Introduction	122	2.5 The Figural Programme of the Volta Dorata: The 'External Frieze'
25	Chapter 1. The Oppian Building and its History: From Antiquity to the 21st Century	131	2.6 A New Possible Interpretation for Scene 2: An Unparalleled Iconography of the Myth of Aeneas and Dido?	225	Conclusions
26	1. The Current Remains of the Domus Aurea. The Oppian Building: Chronological Phases and Possible Function	142	2.7 Some Final Observations: The Figurative System and Literary Themes	235	Catalogue of Graphic Documents
35	2. After Nero and Before the 15 th Century Rediscovery	148	3. Hypothetical Reconstructions of the Volta Dorata and Room 80	235	1. Introduction to the Catalogue
41	3. From the Rediscovery of the Domus Aurea to the End of the 16 th Century	148	3.1 The Volta Dorata: A Hypothetical Reconstruction	236	2. List of Graphic Documents
58	4. The 17 th Century	154	3.2 Room 80: A Hypothetical Reconstruction	238	Cat. 1
63	5. The 18 th Century	159	Chapter 3. The Reception of the Volta Dorata in the Renaissance and the History of its Graphic Documentation	244	Cat. 2
69	6. The 19 th Century: From Titus' Baths to the Domus Aurea			251	Cat. 3
71	7. The 20 th and 21 st Centuries: Recent Studies and New Excavations			256	Cat. 4
75	8. Literary Sources			259	Cat. 5
85	Chapter 2. The Paintings of the Volta Dorata through Archaeological Evidence and Graphic Documentation			264	Cat. 6
86	1. Room 80: The Location within the Oppian Building, Decorations, and the State of Conservation	160	1. The 'Copying Process' in the Renaissance Drawings of the Volta Dorata	268	Cat. 7
86	1.1 Room 80 as Part of the Oppian Building	166	2. The Drawings of the Volta Dorata: The Draftsmen, their Interests, and the 'Copying Methodologies'	273	Cat. 8
89	1.2 Room 80: Architecture, Marble, and Painting Decoration	175	3. From Model to Re-Elaboration	279	Cat. 9
91	1.3 Room 80 and Famulus, the Gravis and Severus Painter	197	4. The History of Graphic Documentation after the 16 th Century: Some Issues about the Drawing from the Antique	283	Cat. 10
96	2. The Volta Dorata	198	5. The 17 th Century: Pietro Santi Bartoli	286	Cat. 11
96	2.1 Dimensions and the Geometrical System	203	6. The 18 th Century: Ludovico Mirri's Artists	289	Cat. 12
100	2.2 The Decorative System of the Volta Dorata: Colours and Types of Decorations	211	7. A Brief Overview of Drawings of the 19 th and 20 th Centuries	292	Cat. 13
		214	8. Conclusions and Final Considerations	297	Cat. 14
		217	9. Appendix I – Subjects Depicted in Francisco de Hollanda's Album of Drawings (Os Desenhos das Antigualhas)	300	Cat. 15
		219	10. Appendix II – Annotations on the Drawings of the Hertziana Album (inv. Dv 570–340 gr raro)	304	Cat. 16
				307	Cat. 17
				311	Cat. 18
				316	Cat. 19
				323	Cat. 20
				329	Cat. 21
				334	Cat. 22
				337	Cat. 23
				341	Cat. 24
				344	Cat. 25
				351	Cat. 26
				371	Works Cited
				393	Index of Most Relevant Names
				395	Index of Places and Works Mentioned
				397	Photo Credits