

The Citi exhibition

ARCTIC

CULTURE AND CLIMATE

Edited by Amber Lincoln, Jago Cooper and Jan Peter Laurens Loovers

Thames & Hudson

The British Museum

Contents

Sponsor's foreword	6	The first Arctic culture in North America	199
Director's foreword	7	The north of western Siberia in the Iron Age:
Preface	9	trade, imports, new ideas	207
Maps	10	The Punuk/Birnirk interregnum of the 9th to
		11th centuries	212
Chapter 1: Climate change in the Arctic	17
The Arctic experience of climate change	18	Chapter 5: A resilient north	221
Atigiit, Silapaat	30	Rapid change	222
Alaskan Inuit food sovereignty: from the		Russian colonialism	224
perspective of a hunting culture	33	Southern ambitions	231
		Trade in the Bering Strait	242
Chapter 2: Seasonal lives	43	Changing state and exploration of the Russian Arctic:
Relations with animals in the Circumpolar North	44	expanding horizons of ethnographic knowledge	255
Sakha summer festival	78	The 'shaman's mask'	266
Reindeer herders and mobility	82	Governing the Arctic	270
		The art of resilience	280
Chapter 3: Living with weather	101	Living with ice in a changing world	297
Harnessing weather in hunting livelihoods	102
Making my amautis	133	Collecting histories	302
Working with nalua : the most delicate of sealskin	142	Notes	304
		Further reading	314
Chapter 4: Arctic ancestors	149	List of contributors	315
The earliest Arctic settlers	150	List of lenders and acknowledgements	316
9,000 years ago in the Siberian Arctic:		Picture credits	317
Zhokhov Island	166	Index	318
Earliest-known people in the North American Arctic	178
Focusing on the coast	187		