

The Love Jones Cohort

Single and Living Alone in the Black Middle Class

KRIS MARSH

University of Maryland

Contents

List of Figures	page ix
List of Tables	xi
Preface	xiii
Introducing the Members of the Love Jones Cohort	xix
Acknowledgments	xxv
Introduction	1
1 Scholarly Debates on Defining the Black Middle Class	17
2 How the Love Jones Cohort Defines the Black Middle Class	31
3 The Love Jones Cohort and Black Middle-Class Identity	40
4 The Rise of Never-Married Black Singles	52
5 Choice, Circumstance, or Both?	73
6 Lifestyle Ebbs and Flows	83
7 Intergenerational Mobility and Disseminating Wealth	99
8 Homeownership and the Accumulation of Wealth	117
9 Neighborhood Decisions and Interactions	132
10 Health, Mental Well-Being, and Coping Strategies (with Courtney Thomas)	145
Conclusion	164
Afterword	171

Appendices

A Percentage of Black and White Persons, between the Ages of 25 and 65 Who Never Married, 1880–2019	173
B Calculating the Black Middle-Class Index (BMCi), by Kris Marsh, William A. Darity Jr., Philip N. Cohen, Lynne M. Casper, and Danielle Salters	174
C Brief Explanations of the Ten of the Most Persistent Myths Surrounding the Racial Wealth Gap, by William Darity Jr., Darrick Hamilton, Mark Paul, Alan Aja, Anne Price, Antonio Moore, and Caterina Chiopris	177
References	181
Index	209

Figures

2.1 Percentage of Love Jones Cohort by age and gender who define the Black middle class with objective, subjective, or a combination of measures	page 32
3.1 Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort members defines being Black and middle class as the same or different from the other middle classes	41
4.1 Percentage of Black women and men aged 25–65 who have never been married, 1880–2019	54
4.2 Percentage of never-married Black women and men aged 25–65 with a bachelor’s degree or higher, 1940–2019	55
4.3 Percentage of never-married Black women and men aged 25–65 with a professional occupation, 1880–2019	56
4.4 Median income of Black female and male householders living alone, aged 25 and over, in 2019 dollars	56
4.5 Percentage of never-married Black women and men aged 25–65 who own or bought a home, 1900–2019	57
5.1 Percentage of Love Jones Cohort, by age and gender, who classify their SALA status as being due to choice, circumstance, or both	74
6.1 Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort who used neutral, positive, and negative words to describe their lifestyle	84
7.1 Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort, by age and gender, who report their class status as the same or different from that of their parents	103
7.2 Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort, by age and gender, who have a living trust, will, or other unofficial documentation to disseminate their wealth	108

7.3	Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort, by age and gender, who will leave their assets to parents/grandparents, siblings, nieces/nephews, and/or godchildren	112
8.1	Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort, by age and gender, who own homes, stock and bonds, retirement accounts, or other assets	121
10.1	Percentage of the Love Jones Cohort members, by age and gender, who report their SALA status as having negative or positive influence, or both, on their well-being	151

Tables

8.1 Ten of the most persistent myths surrounding the racial wealth gap
--

page 118