The History of Calvinism

1. Pre-Calvinism	33
The doctrines distinctive to Calvinism were gradually developed by Augustine, Gottschalk, Thomas Bradwardine, and others long before the Reformation.
2. The Reformation	42
The main branches of the Reformation were the Lutheran, the Anabaptist, and the Reformed.
3. John Calvin	48
John Calvin built on the foundation of Zwingli to become the most well-known and influential exponent of Reformed theology through his many writings, amid several controversies.
4. The Spread of Calvinism	54
Reformed theology developed in the late sixteenth century in Switzerland, southern Germany, the Netherlands, England, Scotland, and eastern Europe.
5. The Synod of Dort	61
Dutch Calvinists resisted the challenge of Jacob Arminius and the Remonstrants at the Synod of Dort.
6. Seventeenth-Century Calvinism	67
Calvinism continued to flourish through Reformed scholasticism, the Dutch Further Reformation, and Covenant Theology, with parallels in Jansenism and Cyril Lucaris.

| 7. | The Puritans
British Calvinists from 1570 to 1700 developed Reformed theology among Anglicans, Presbyterians, Independents, and Baptists in the context of the English Civil War and covenantal disputes in Scotland. | 76 |
| 8. | The Westminster Assembly
The high point of English Puritanism was reached from 1643 to 1648 in the Westminster Assembly and its confession, catechisms, and other documents. | 88 |
| 9. | Amyraldism
The seventeenth century saw the rise of a moderate form of Reformed theology mainly associated with Moysse Amyraut in France. | 93 |
| 10. | Hyper-Calvinism
An extreme form of High Calvinism arose in the early eighteenth century that denied the free offer and a universal saving will of God in the gospel and sometimes denied common grace and duty faith. | 99 |
| 11. | Eighteenth-Century Calvinism
The Reformed faith declined in some quarters while facing various controversies but also experienced revival. | 108 |
| 12. | New England Theology
New England Calvinism began with the Pilgrim Fathers, reached its high point with Jonathan Edwards, and declined through his successors. | 114 |
| 13. | The Princeton Theology
Orthodox Calvinism was promoted by Princeton Theological Seminary from 1812 until its division in 1929, when the torch was passed to Westminster Theological Seminary. | 126 |
| 14. | Nineteenth-Century American Calvinism
There were major controversies among Presbyterians, German Reformed, and Baptist Calvinists in America, but there were also many giants of the Reformed faith. | 131 |
| 15. | Nineteenth-Century European Calvinism
Reformed theology continued amid challenges in Germany, Switzerland, France, the Netherlands, England, and Scotland and prospered among the orthodox. | 137 |

16. Neo-Orthodoxy 146
An aberrant spinoff from historic Calvinism arose in the twentieth century in the theologies of Karl Barth, Emil Brunner, Thomas Torrance, and various American theologians.
17. Twentieth-Century American Calvinism 155
Calvinism splintered among Presbyterians, Dutch-American Reformed, Baptists, and others but experienced a resurgence in the last few decades.
18. Twentieth-Century British Calvinism 165
There were notable Reformed preachers and theologians in England, Wales, Scotland, and Northern Ireland in the twentieth century.
19. Twentieth-Century International Calvinism 171
The Reformed faith continued to grow in the face of controversies in the Netherlands, France, Canada, and South Africa and began to spread in Australia, the Far East, and elsewhere.

The Theology of Calvinism

The Sovereignty of God

20. The Sovereignty of God 183
A key feature of Calvinism is its doctrine of the transcendence, independence, authority, and absolute sovereignty of God.
21. Absolute Predestination 194
God foreordained in eternity everything that will happen in time.
22. Objections to Predestination 204
Various objections to the Reformed doctrine of predestination can be answered from the Bible.
23. Foreknowledge 213
God knows everything that will ever happen because He has foreordained everything, contrary to the error of Open Theism.
24. Providence 220
God sovereignly guides all things in creation by providence, including miracles.

25. The Will of God 227
The will of God has been revealed to us in a twofold manner: the secret will of predestination and the revealed will of law and gospel.
26. Divine Sovereignty and Human Responsibility 238
It is a biblical paradox that God is sovereign and man is responsible, but God intervenes in the will of man, who remains accountable.
27. Prayer and the Sovereignty of God 245
The interplay of divine sovereignty and human responsibility is illustrated in the practice of prayer.
28. The Glory of God 252
The ultimate goal of predestination and providence is the display of the beauty and glory of God through Jesus Christ.

The Five Points of Calvinism

Total Depravity

29. The Origin of Sin 257
God is not the author or approver of sin, yet He foreordained sin to come into existence as part of His overall plan.
30. The Problem of Evil 271
God tempts no man but allows sin and tragedy to occur as part of His plan to reveal His glory.
31. Original Sin 279
The sin and guilt of Adam has been passed on and imputed to all humans, though Calvinists differ on the exact means this is done.
32. Total Depravity 289
Sin affects and controls all aspects of humans, such as their bodies, hearts, minds, emotions, consciences, and wills.
33. The Depth of Depravity 300
Sinners are spiritually dead children of the devil, who hate God and love sin and are far more wicked than they realize.
34. The Bondage of the Will 316
Sinners are slaves of sin and Satan and are morally unable to think or will any spiritual good until they are freed by Jesus Christ in salvation.

35. Total Depravity and Human Responsibility 325
Sinners do not have a neutral "free will," but their sinful state leaves them morally accountable and guilty before God.
- Unconditional Election
36. Unconditional Election 333
In eternity God unconditionally chose some sinners to be saved.
37. The Election of Grace 341
By sovereign grace, God elected some sinners and wrote their names permanently in the Book of Life.
38. Election and Foreknowledge 348
God chose the elect by special love and not by foreseeing their faith or anything good in them.
39. Election in Christ 354
God the Father chose the elect in, through, and for Jesus Christ, who was chosen to be their Head and Savior.
40. The Covenant of Redemption 361
The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit covenanted together in choosing a people to be the bride of Christ in a covenant of salvation, love, and glory.
41. Objections to Election 370
Various objections to the Reformed doctrine of election can be answered from the Bible.
42. The Destiny of the Elect 382
The elect were chosen to enjoy salvation, eternal life, holiness, conformity to the image of Christ, glorification in heaven, and eternal love with God.
43. Practical Implications of Election 389
Christians may know they are elect and should live for God in humility, holiness, and love.
44. The Doctrine of Reprobation 397
The Bible teaches that God has not chosen all sinners to salvation but passed over many of them and left them to be punished for their sins.

45. The Hardening of the Reprobate 412
God blinds the minds and hardens the hearts of the reprobate and withholds saving grace from them to prepare them for judgment.
46. The Destiny of the Reprobate 422
Those whom God did not choose are destined to be punished for their sins eternally and consciously in hell to glorify God's justice and wrath.
47. The Relation of Election and Reprobation 432
There are more reprobate than elect, while election is primary, and there are other relations between the two.
48. The Order of the Decrees 442
Mainstream Calvinism correctly teaches the biblical truth of infralapsarianism rather than a supralapsarian or Amyraldian order of the decrees.
49. The Election of Angels 456
God chose some angels to remain holy but allowed the rest of the angels to fall into sin and never be saved.
50. The Election of Dying Infants 467
God chose all dying infants as a class by sovereign grace to be saved and go to heaven.
51. The Destiny of the Unevangelized 480
God did not choose to salvation any of the sinners who never hear the gospel, for Christ is the only way to salvation, so the unevangelized will be punished justly for their sins.
- Limited Atonement
52. The Extent of the Atonement 492
Christ died especially for the elect, but there is a general aspect of the atonement for all men.
53. Limited Atonement 509
The primary design of the atonement was that Christ died to effectually satisfy the wrath of God for the elect and guarantee their salvation.
54. Objections to Limited Atonement 522
Various objections to the Reformed doctrine of limited atonement may be answered from the Bible.

Irresistible Grace

55. Irresistible Grace 532
God irresistibly draws the elect to Christ in salvation by the effectual power of the Holy Spirit.
56. The New Birth 542
God sovereignly bestows regeneration on the elect through the Word of God, so they are passive, and the Spirit is active, and thus regeneration precedes faith.
57. The Gift of Faith 552
God sovereignly gives saving faith to the elect, so they are justified by faith alone and not by their good works.
58. The Order of Salvation 560
The logical order of salvation is calling, regeneration, faith, repentance, justification, adoption, and glorification.
59. Common Grace 572
God has a general love for all sinners, by which He restrains their sin, enables them to do outward good and develop the various spheres of culture, and prepares the elect for salvation.

The Perseverance of the Saints

60. Preservation of the Saints 583
God preserves all the regenerated elect so that they stay saved and never lose their salvation.
61. Perseverance of the Saints 595
God continues to work in the hearts of the regenerate elect so they continue to live lives of faith, repentance, and obedience, thus preventing apostasy or continual backsliding.
62. Objections to Eternal Security 606
Various objections to the Reformed doctrine of preservation and perseverance can be answered from the Bible.

Miscellaneous Doctrines

63. Holy Scripture 615
The Reformed faith holds to certain distinctive doctrines regarding the

- infallibility, perspicuity, authority and providential preservation of Scripture, as well as the analogy of faith and the self-authenticating witness of the Spirit.*
64. The Two Natures of Christ 623
Jesus Christ is both fully God and fully man in one person, without any mixture or communication of attributes between the natures.
65. The Active and Passive Obedience of Christ 636
In justification, God imputes the active obedience of Christ's holy life as well as the passive obedience of His atoning death.
66. The Law 650
Calvinists believe in the three uses and three divisions of the law in contrast to legalism and antinomianism.
67. Covenant Theology 657
God has worked progressively in history through a series of related covenants, in contrast with Dispensationalism.
68. The Church 665
Mainstream Calvinism practices a presbyterial form of church government, in which the marks of the true church are important and the Regulative Principle of Worship is practiced.
69. The Sacraments 674
There are only two true sacraments, namely baptism and Communion, and Christians enjoy spiritual fellowship with Christ in the Lord's Supper by the Word and the Spirit.
70. Calvinistic Apologetics 682
Reformed theologians have used various methods to defend the Christian faith, and the best is an improvement on Presuppositionalism, which may be termed biblical apologetics.
71. Reformed Evangelism 692
Reformed Christians practice biblical evangelism in keeping with the sovereignty of God and the five points while avoiding Arminian abuses such as "easy believism."
72. Arminianism 700
Arminianism is an evangelical form of Semi-Pelagianism, a rival to Calvinism, and an error but not necessarily a damnable heresy.

73. The Practical Application of Calvinism	712
Calvinists should have a biblical worldview, avoid certain problems, and cultivate spiritual attitudes in keeping with their distinctive theology.
74. Calvinism Today and Tomorrow	721
There are varieties of Calvinism, but they are all God-centered and guide us optimistically to the future.
