

Contents

Preface.....	VII
List of Abbreviations.....	XIII
Bibliography.....	XVII
Official Documents.....	XXXVII
Other References.....	XLVII
Case Law.....	LI
Introductory Remarks.....	1
Part I – Introduction.....	3
1. The Convention on Biological Diversity.....	4
2. The Nagoya Protocol.....	5
3. Success or Failure of International Environmental Law.....	6
Part II – Convention on Biological Diversity.....	13
1. Before the Negotiations.....	13
2. Preparations for the CBD.....	18
3. Protecting Biodiversity.....	21
3.1 Definition of Biodiversity.....	22
3.2 Biodiversity and the Law.....	23
3.3 Conservation of Biological Resources.....	26
3.4 State Sovereignty vs. Private Property.....	28
4. The CBD as a Framework Agreement.....	31
5. Conservation and Sustainable Use.....	33
5.1 Common Concern.....	36
5.2 The Precautionary Principle.....	40
5.3 Science and Environmental Law.....	42
5.4 Sustainable Development.....	46
6. Definitions and Scope of Application.....	50
7. General Obligations of the Parties.....	53
8. CBD Targets.....	57
9. Protection of Biological Resources.....	60
10. Provider and User Countries.....	61
11. Access and benefit-sharing.....	62
12. Liability under the CBD.....	65

13.	Bodies of the CBD.....	67
14.	Non-State Actors and International Environmental Law.....	71
Part III – The Nagoya Protocol.....		77
1.	The road to Nagoya.....	77
2.	The Negotiations.....	79
2.1	The EU Position during the Negotiations .....	80
2.2	Switzerland’s Position during the Negotiations.....	83
2.3	Developing Countries’ Position during the Negotiations .....	86
3.	Nagoya Protocol Rules and Regulations.....	87
3.1	Scope and Objectives.....	90
3.2	Access and Special Considerations.....	93
3.3	Benefit Sharing, Collaboration and Conservation .....	96
3.4	Compliance and Monitoring .....	98
3.4.1	Domestic Legislation regarding Traditional Knowledge.....	100
3.4.2	Monitoring and Reporting .....	101
3.4.3	Compliance with Mutually Agreed Terms .....	103
3.4.4	Individual Party Compliance.....	104
3.5	Model Contractual Clauses .....	106
3.6	Codes of Conduct and Guidelines and Best Practices .....	108
3.7	Assessment and Review.....	108
3.8	Raising Awareness.....	108
3.9	Financial Resources, Technology Transfer, and Intellectual Property.....	110
3.9.1	Technology and Know-How Transfer.....	111
3.9.2	Mechanisms and Resources.....	117
3.10	Conference of the Parties and Secretariat .....	121
3.10.1	The Nagoya Protocol Conference of the Parties.....	122
3.10.2	Secretariat and Subsidiary Bodies .....	123
3.11	Final Provisions .....	125
3.12	Annexes to the Nagoya Protocol.....	126
4.	The Nagoya Protocol and other International Rules.....	127
4.1	The International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture .....	130
4.2	Relationship with WIPO and WTO Law .....	132
4.2.1	WIPO.....	132
4.2.2	WTO.....	133
4.2.3	TRIPS.....	135
Part IV – National Implementation.....		143
1.	Implementation Reports.....	144

2.	Implementation by the European Union .....	145
3.	Implementation in Germany .....	149
4.	Implementation in the United Kingdom .....	152
5.	Implementation in Switzerland .....	156
5.1	Art. 23n NCHA – Due Diligence Requirement.....	156
5.2	Art. 23o NCHA – Notification requirement .....	157
5.3	Art. 23q NCHA – Genetic Resources in Switzerland.....	158
5.4	Art. 24a NCHA – Contraventions .....	158
5.5	Ordinance for the implementation of the Nagoya Protocol.....	159
5.5.1	Scope and Terms of the Nagoya Ordinance.....	160
5.5.2	Due Diligence and Reporting Obligations .....	161
5.5.3	Recognition of good practices and Collections.....	162
5.5.4	Domestic Access to Genetic Resources .....	163
5.5.5	Conservation and sustainable Utilisation .....	164
5.5.6	Tasks of other Authorities .....	166
5.5.7	Other Amendments to the Law .....	166
5.6	Conclusion for Switzerland .....	167
6.	Implementation in Madagascar.....	169
7.	Influence on Non-Signatory Countries .....	175
Part V – Issues and Highlights .....		179
1.	Success or Failure of the CBD and the Nagoya Protocol .....	180
2.	Issues and Required Improvements .....	182
2.1	Improved knowledge on Biological Diversity.....	183
2.2	Lack of Bioprospecting Projects.....	185
2.3	Complexity of Benefit Sharing Contracts.....	186
2.4	Intellectual Property Rights Adjustment .....	187
2.5	Treating Genetic Resources as Information .....	196
2.6	A World Environmental Organisation.....	199
2.7	Organising Provider Countries .....	201
2.8	Reconciliation of International Environmental Law .....	204
2.9	New Technologies to Facilitate Protection.....	206
2.10	Support through Private Standards .....	208
3.	Recommended Way Forward .....	210
Part VI – Conclusion.....		217
Subject Index .....		221

2.	Implementation by the European Union .....	145
3.	Implementation in Germany .....	149
4.	Implementation in the United Kingdom .....	152
5.	Implementation in Switzerland .....	156
5.1	Art. 23n NCHA – Due Diligence Requirement.....	156
5.2	Art. 23o NCHA – Notification requirement .....	157
5.3	Art. 23q NCHA – Genetic Resources in Switzerland.....	158
5.4	Art. 24a NCHA – Contraventions .....	158
5.5	Ordinance for the implementation of the Nagoya Protocol.....	159
5.5.1	Scope and Terms of the Nagoya Ordinance.....	160
5.5.2	Due Diligence and Reporting Obligations .....	161
5.5.3	Recognition of good practices and Collections.....	162
5.5.4	Domestic Access to Genetic Resources .....	163
5.5.5	Conservation and sustainable Utilisation .....	164
5.5.6	Tasks of other Authorities .....	166
5.5.7	Other Amendments to the Law .....	166
5.6	Conclusion for Switzerland .....	167
6.	Implementation in Madagascar.....	169
7.	Influence on Non-Signatory Countries .....	175
Part V – Issues and Highlights .....		179
1.	Success or Failure of the CBD and the Nagoya Protocol .....	180
2.	Issues and Required Improvements .....	182
2.1	Improved knowledge on Biological Diversity.....	183
2.2	Lack of Bioprospecting Projects.....	185
2.3	Complexity of Benefit Sharing Contracts.....	186
2.4	Intellectual Property Rights Adjustment .....	187
2.5	Treating Genetic Resources as Information .....	196
2.6	A World Environmental Organisation.....	199
2.7	Organising Provider Countries .....	201
2.8	Reconciliation of International Environmental Law .....	204
2.9	New Technologies to Facilitate Protection.....	206
2.10	Support through Private Standards .....	208
3.	Recommended Way Forward .....	210
Part VI – Conclusion.....		217
Subject Index .....		221