

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Table of Contents.....	v
List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	ix
Abbreviations.....	x
Acknowledgments.....	xi
Introduction.....	1
Chapter 1
Child protection in early state socialist Hungary.....	19
A brief introduction to the historical context: Hungary, 1949–1956.....	19
Historical and legal background of child protection in Hungary in the late nineteenth and the first half of the twentieth century.....	30
Child protection as a “solution to the Gypsy question” in nineteenth- and twentieth-century Hungary.....	71
Chapter 2
“The minor would hinder the mother in finding employment”:
Child protection regulating women’s labor force participation	79
A lack of child care services and “delinquent” children.....	84
“‘The minor would hinder the mother in finding employment’: Child protection as a tool to force unemployed mothers to enter paid work	89
“‘As they are Gypsies, they are not employed’: The negative evaluation of Romani motherhood	94
Parents requesting their children’s institutionalization for the purposes of child care.....	99
Chapter 3
“‘She occupied herself with men’: Child protection regulating the sexual morality of lone mothers and single young women	107
Concern about women’s sexual morality in early state socialist Hungary.....	113
The regulation of lone mothers’ sexuality	115

The representation of lone mothers in the case files of children in state care	116
The regulation of Romani women's sexuality	126
Regulating the sexuality of single young women	130
Chapter 4
"Make them experience the good taste of productive work":
Residential care as an institution of education	139
Reformatory and reform pedagogy: The origins of education for work in residential care education	142
The continuity of education for work in the curricula and educational practice of residential homes under state socialism	147
Education for work in the socialist context: Reform pedagogical and reformatory traditions	152
"Make them experience the good taste of productive work": What education for work meant to child protection professionals during and after socialism	155
Turning work into a habit	158
Education for work as education for life: Creating gendered habits	164
Education for work as a means towards the assimilation of Roma	169
Chapter 5
"He was three years old but could not speak and had no emotional attachment to anybody": State care as discourse on Stalinist political terror in socialist Hungary
Emmi Pikler and the history of "Lóczy"	183
The cases of László Rajk Jr. and Mátyás Donáth	190
Two mothers' (re)construction of their children's institutionalization	195
Conclusion	203
Appendix	209
Biographical information	215
Bibliography	221
Index	241