

Land and Trade in Early Islam

The Economy of the Islamic Middle East 750–1050 CE

Edited by
HUGH KENNEDY
and
FANNY BESSARD

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Maps	xiii
List of Figures	xv
List of Tables	xix
List of Abbreviations	xxi
Notes on Transcription and Dates	xxiii
Maps	xxv

PART I. ECONOMIC EXCEPTIONALISM IN EARLY ISLAM: MYTH OR REALITY?

1. The Late Antique and Byzantine Context to Early Islamic Mercantile Activity 3
Peter Sarris
2. The Islamic Agricultural Revolution: Myths and Realities 26
Michael Decker

PART II. POLITICS OF INVESTMENT

3. Introduction: Towards a Model of the Early Islamic Economy 49
Hugh Kennedy
- A. Caliphal Initiatives
4. Caliphs, the Economy, and Political Separatism in the Ḥijāz 67
Harry Munt
5. Power and Money on the Ḥajj: Connections between Caliphate and Pilgrimage in Early Islam 100
Peter Webb
6. Early Islamic Water Management in Northern Mesopotamia 140
Louise Rayne
7. Landholding, Investment, and Irrigation in Lower Iraq during the First Two Centuries of Islam: Assessing the Role of the Islamic State 184
Noémie Lucas

8. Dynamics of Agricultural Investment in al-Ahwaz in the Early Islamic Period 205
Mehrnoush Soroush
9. A Tale of Two Services: The Khums and the Matjar, Two Fatimid Public Services to Control the Maritime Trade 232
David Bramoullé
- B. Economic Initiatives from Religious Communities
10. The Imams as Economic Actors: Early Imami Shi‘ism as a ‘Sacred Economy’ 249
Edmund Hayes
11. Silent Partners: Christians in the Economy of Early Islamic Palestine 272
Daniel Reynolds

PART III. LOCAL AND REGIONAL TRADING IDENTITIES FROM THE MAGHREB TO THE INDIAN OCEAN

12. Introduction: Trade in the Polycentric ‘Abbāsīd Caliphate 317
Fanny Bessard
13. The Ibāḍī Trading Communities of the Maghreb (Eighth to Eleventh Centuries) 328
Cyrille Aillet
14. Baḥr al-Ḥijāz: Muslim Expansionism and the Formation of an Arabian Mercantile Complex in the Red Sea (Seventh to Ninth Centuries) 353
Kristoffer Damgaard
15. Ivory and Rock Crystal Trade in East Africa, Eighth to Twelfth Centuries 392
Stéphane Pradines
16. The Middle East as Seen by the Arab Geographers (Ninth to Tenth Centuries): A Multipolar Urban Network 424
Jean-Charles Ducène
17. North-Eastern Mesopotamia as an Economic Area from an Archaeological Perspective 443
Karel Nováček
18. Infrastructures and Organization of the Early Islamic Slave Trade with Northern Europe 463
Marek Jankowiak

19. The Politics of Trade: Merchants, Mujāhids, and Strangers in Early ‘Abbāsīd Armenia Alison Vacca	504
20. The Islamic Trade Network in the Indian Ocean (Ninth to Eleventh Centuries): Locations and Practices Jean-Charles Ducène	525
Index	547

List of Maps

1. Medieval Egypt	xxv
2. Red Sea in Early Islam	xxvi
3. Medieval Southern Levant	xxvii
4. Medieval Northern Levant	xxviii
5. Bilād al-Shām	xxix
6. Medieval Iraq	xxx
7. Northern Levant and Ğazīra	xxxi
8. Ğazīra (Nahr al-Kabur and Nahr Baliḥ)	xxxi
9. Ğazīra (Zab and Great Zab)	xxxii
10. Southern Iraq	xxxiii
11. Medieval Armenia	xxxiv
12. Persian Gulf and Fārs	xxxv
13. Medieval Iran	xxxvi
14. Gulf of Aden	xxxvii
15. Persian Gulf and Gulf of Oman	xxxviii
16. Gulf of Aden (2)	xxxix
17. Sind	xl
18. Caspian Sea and Transoxiana	xli
19. Arabian Sea	xlj
20. Eastern Mediterranean	xljii
21. Tripoli and Surt	xliv
22. Qayrawān and Carthage	xlv
23. Western Mediterranean	xlvi
24. Western Mediterranean (Fez and Sijilmāsa)	xlvii

List of Figures

6.1	Areas of irrigation discussed in this chapter and average rainfall isohyets (mm per year).	141
6.2	Canal at Carchemish choked with vegetation.	146
6.3	CORONA image showing the site of Resafa (November 1968).	152
6.4	Relict irrigation features Jerablus – Balikh.	153
6.5	The canal between Tell Fray and Qal'at Ja'bar is visible in CORONA images (November 1968).	154
6.6	Relict irrigation features in the Balikh Valley mapped from CORONA imagery.	157
6.7	Canal near Raqqa (CORONA image May 1968).	159
6.8	CORONA image of the Nahr al Abbara (May 1968).	160
6.9	Euphrates between Halabiya and the Nahr Dawrīn.	162
6.10	A canal flowing on the left bank of the Khābūr, crossing runoff wadis (CORONA image November 1968).	163
6.11	The Nahr Semiramis traces visible in the CORONA imagery (November 1968).	165
6.12	Profile across the Khābūr using the SRTM DEM shows that at this location the elevation of the river and the edge of the terrace is contiguous (CORONA image November 1968).	166
6.13	The Nahr Dawrīn (CORONA image November 1968).	167
6.14	Dense area of qanāts on the Sinjār Plain, radiating from the town of Sinjār.	168
6.15	Dense networks of qanāts south of the town of Sinjār (CORONA image December 1967).	169
8.1	Historic cities and permanent rivers of Khuzistan.	206
8.2	Historic and modern watercourses between the cities of Shushtar and Ahwaz.	207
8.3	View from south to north to the historic centre of the city of Shushtar. Karun is visible in the background. The Gargar canal flanks the old city to the east. The inlet of the canal and associated headworks are located northeast of the historic city.	208
8.4	Remote sensing map of the irrigation canals on the Miyanab plain.	210
8.5	Three-dimensional model of Shushtar and its hydrology in 1975.	211
8.6	The Sasanian and Early Islamic irrigated landscape of Shushtar and 'Askar Mukram.	212

8.7	(A) Possible location of a new or an enlarged outlet of the old Masruqan canal. (B) Ibn Ḥawqal map of Khuzistan.	218
8.8	(A) Graadt Van Roggen's map of ancient Ahwaz and its hydraulic remains. (B) Historic hydraulic infrastructure of Ahwaz overlaid on the CORONA imagery.	219
8.9	Map of 'Aksar Mukram based on the data collected in archaeological survey of the Miyanab plain by author in 2014.	220
8.10	Some of the hollow ways around the Islamic sites of the Kupal area.	221
8.11	Estimated area of maximum irrigation agriculture in the hinterlands of Shushtar, 'Askar, and Ahwaz.	223
8.12	Top: The site of Tell Brak, eastern Syria, with extensive system of hollow ways, seen on the CORONA Atlas of the Middle East. Bottom: The system of hollow ways mapped in the Jazireh region of eastern Syria and northern Iraq.	224
8.13	The avulsion of the Karun, dated to the Early Islamic period.	225
8.14	Boundary of the kūra of 'Askar (A) based on the result of the present study (B) reconstructed by Pyne.	226
11.1	Geological map of the southern Levant (excluding Sinai).	279
11.2	Jordan, Kastron Mefa'a, Church of Hagios Paulos, by author 2012.	281
11.3	Israel, Sobata (Shivta), South church.	281
11.4	Israel, Kursi, 'Church of the Multiplication'.	282
11.5	Christian foundations attested in Central Palestine and the Transjordan (c.900–c.1000).	286
11.6	Christian foundations attested in Southern Palestine and the Sinai (c.900–c.1000).	287
13.1	Plan of the archaeological site of Sedrata, established by M. van Berchem in 1955.	345
13.2	The 'Gara Krīma' with the well and its towpath on the centre, and settlement structures.	346
13.3	Room B of the 'palace'. This decorative panel displays bulbous elements that remind the Balkuwārā palace of Samarra.	347
15.1	Indian Ocean Trade Roads Map.	395
15.2	Ivory plaque found in Gedi, Kenya.	399
15.3	Short oliphant 'Mbiu' from Sofala.	400
15.4	Short oliphant 'Mbiu' from Pate.	400
15.5	Figure 05: Long Oliphant, bronze siwa from Lamu, 17th c.	401
15.6	Long Oliphant, Ivory siwa made in Pate in 1680.	401
15.7	Siwa's handle – Olifant's part from the Curiosity Cabinet of Father Claude Du Moulinet, Sainte-Geneviève Library, Paris (inv. 1943-res. 126).	402

15.8	Elephant-hunting in the Zambezi flood lands, southern Africa.	404
15.9	Photographs and drawings of Islamic ceramics (10–12 th c.).	408
15.10	Photographs and drawings of Chinese ceramics (10–12 th c.).	409
15.11	Photographs of Dembeni rock crystals.	411
15.12	Malagasy rock crystal mines location.	413
17.1	Al-Hadītha, the general plan of the city in the Hexagon satellite image (taken in February 1972).	446
17.2	Al-Bawāzīj, fortified town with a citadel (Tell Mutibigh) in the western protrusion of the town wall.	448
17.3	Kushāf citadel, right tower of the gate, rusticated ashlar.	450
17.4	Hazza/Kafir ‘Azzā, topography of the site near the present-day village of ‘Azza.	451
17.5	Kona Makhmūr, general plan of the site and its hypothetical structure.	452
17.6	Kona Makhmūr, qasr 1.	453
17.7	The region of Al-Hidyāb (Adiabene), reconstruction of the communication network and urban sub-systems (white dashed lines) during the Late Sasanian and Islamic periods.	454
17.8	The towns and central cites of Al-Hidyāb.	457
17.9	Settlement dynamics of three surveyed sites in Al-Hidyāb.	458
18.1	Map of dirham hoards.	469

List of Tables

7.1 Sawād's income.	186
9.1 Fees for the 'arṣa in Alexandria.	235
9.2 Details of the fees of the qūf paid in Alexandria according to al-Makhzūmī's three categories.	236
9.3 List of the local agents paid after the auction sale ( ḥalqa ) in the dār Mānak of Alexandria.	237
9.4 List of the local agents paid after the auction sale in the Dār al-Yatīm of Damietta.	238
9.5 List of the local agents paid after the auction sale of wood in the Dār al-Yatīm of Damietta.	238
9.6 List of the rights taken from ships sold at auction in Tinnis.	238
11.1 Ecclesiastical foundations active c.900–c.1050.	278
11.2 Identified scribes and patrons from the catalogued manuscripts of Mount Sinai and other collections.	293
14.1 Overview of active Early Islamic emporia along the Red Sea: The ports with the strongest evidence pertaining to the seventh to ninth centuries CE are shown in bold.	382