

THIRD EDITION

CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES IN FOOD STUDIES

EDITED BY

MUSTAFA KOÇ | JENNIFER SUMNER | ANTHONY WINSON

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Contributors x

Preface xv

Acknowledgements xv

Introduction: The Significance of Food and Food Studies xvii

Mustafa Koç, Jennifer Sumner, and Anthony Winson

Part I Food Studies: An Interdisciplinary Field 1

1 Finding Food Studies: A Map of the Field 3

Kelsey Speakman, Margaret Bancarz, and Mustafa Koç

2 You Are What You Eat: Enjoying (and Transforming) Food Culture 18

Josée Johnston and Sarah Cappeliez

3 Constructing “Healthy Eating”/Constructing Self 32

Brenda L. Beagan, Gwen E. Chapman, and Andrea Kirkham

4 Evolving Understandings of Traditional Foods: Integrating Individual Knowledge and Community Practice 45

Hannah Tait Neufeld

5 Critical Food Literacy 59

Jennifer Sumner and Ellen Desjardins

Part II Analytical Perspectives in Food Studies 73

6 Food and the Intersectionality of the Immigrant Experience in Settler Colonial Canada 75

pruneah Michelle Kim, Janika Oza, and Mustafa Koç

7 Pestiewink/Wihokewin: Invitation to Indigenous and Intersectional Feminist Food Studies 90

Sherry Pictou, Tabitha Robin, Barbara Parker, and Jennifer Brady

8 Two Great Food Revolutions: The Domestication of Nature and the Transgression of Nature’s Limits 105

Robert Albritton

9 A Political Ecology Approach to Industrial Food Production 115

Tony Weis

10 Supermarkets, High Schools, and Pseudo Foods: The Role of Obesogenic Food Environments in Promoting a Canadian Health Crisis 133

Anthony Winson

Part III Crises and Challenges in the Food System 155

11 The Farm Crisis 158

Nettie Wiebe

12 The Welfare of Farm Animals on Intensive Livestock Operations (ILOs) in Canada 174

Shannon Kornelsen

13 The Food System in the Fisheries: Addressing the Crisis 188

Aparna Sundar

14 Food Insecurity: A Problem of Public Policy 204

Valerie Tarasuk

15 What Constitutes Good Food? Understanding Indigenous Food Security, Food Sovereignty, and Health and Well-Being 222

Debbie Martin and Megan Matthews

Part IV Challenging Food Governance 237

16 The Challenge of Informed Eating: Food Labelling, Advertising, and the Cacophony of Digital Nutrition Advice 239

Irena Knezevic

17 Questioning the Assumptions of Genetically Modified Crops in Canada 254

E. Ann Clark

18 How the Legacies of the Last Global Food Crisis Sowed the Seeds for the Next One 271

Jennifer Clapp, Andrea M. Collins, and Phoebe Stephens

19 The Social Costs of Cheap Local Food: Migrant Workers in Canadian Agriculture 287

Tanya Basok

20 Food Policy for Health, Justice, and Sustainability 303

Rod MacRae

Part V Food for the Future 317

21 Urban Food Systems and the Importance of Food Policy Councils: The Toronto Perspective 319

Laine Young, Lauren Baker, and Lori Stahlbrand

22 A Systemic Perspective on Food Wastage and Wasted Food 334

Kate Parizeau and Mike von Massow

23 Meeting the Recommendations Outlined in Canada's New Food Guide through a National School Food Program 349

Rachel Engler-Stringer, Ian Mosby, and Sara F. L. Kirk

24 Alternative Food Initiatives, Food Movements, and Collaborative Networks: A Pan-Canadian Perspective 362

Charles Z. Levkoe

25 Building Food Sovereignty: A Radical Framework for Alternative Food Systems 378

Annette Aurélie Desmarais

Glossary 393

Index 404