

Monstrosity, Bodies, and Knowledge in Early Modern England

Curiosity to See and Behold

Whitney Dirks

Amsterdam University Press

Table of Contents

List of Figures, Maps, and Tables	7
Acknowledgments	9
Dedication	11
Conventions and Abbreviations	13
Preface A Note about Form	15
Étude 1 An Anomalous Birth	17
Chapter 1 Introduction: Monstrosity, Disability, and Knowledge	23
Étude 2 A Newsworthy Event	37
Chapter 2 Monstrous Print	43
Medium	44
Message	47
Readership	69
Étude 3 A Popular Attraction	79
Chapter 3 Monstrous Shows	83
Exhibitions	84
Audience	90
Étude 4 The Expert Visitor	121
Chapter 4 The Royal Society	125
Collection and Dissemination	127
A Natural History of the World	140

Étude 5	A Decorative Commodity	163
Chapter 5	Visual Culture	169
	Woodcuts	171
	Engravings	180
	Painted Portraits	189
Étude 6	The Lawsuit	199
Chapter 6	Conclusion: Autonomy, Agency, and Unfree Labour	231
Appendix 1: James Paris du Plessis's Biography		243
Appendix 2: Agreement between Henry Walrond and Richard Herring		245
Bibliographical Abbreviations		247
Primary Sources: Archival		249
Primary Sources: Printed, Visual, Material, Modern Editions		253
Secondary Sources		273
Index		287