

Contents

- vii Acknowledgments
- 1 Introduction
Peter Probst
- 11 The Allure of Architectural Ornament: Ethnographic Art and the “Shortcomings” of Inka Stonemasonry
Carolyn Dean
- 38 Anatomy of a Chronological Hallucination: The Category of Primitive Art and Élie Faure’s *L’art médiéval
John Warne Monroe
- 54 Ethnology at the Margins of “General Art History”: The Case of Alois Hein
Priyanka Basu
- 74 What Happens When Natives Draw? Theodor Koch-Grünberg and the Beginnings of World Art History
Claudia Mattos Avolese
- 91 Boas and Semper: From the Biology of Images to Primitive Art
Carlo Severi
- 105 Empathy with the Unknown: Reproducing “World Art” after 1900
Joseph Imorde
- 123 Fatal Attraction: Carl Einstein’s “Ethnological” Turn
Charles W. Haxthausen
- 146 Pathos and Paideuma: Aby Warburg, Leo Frobenius, and the Demons of Culture
Peter Probst
- 173 Ernst Vatter: A Forgotten Pioneer of Art Ethnology
Karl-Heinz Kohl
- 186 The Anthropologist as Critic: Claude Lévi-Strauss
Boris Wiseman
- 207 René d’Harnoncourt, Twentieth-Century Cultural Broker: Bridging Art History and Anthropology through the Display of Indigenous Art
Nancy Lutkehaus
- 230 Outside and Inside Art History: Anthropologists, Art Historians, Curators, and the Recognition of Aboriginal Art
Howard Morphy
- 253 Contributors
- 254 Illustration Credits
- 255 Index