

The Politics of Reason

A Postfoundational Approach

GAVIN RAE

EDINBURGH
University Press

CONTENTS

|                                                                  |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Acknowledgements                                          | vi  |
| Introduction: Recuperating Reason Politically                    | 1   |
| Part I. The Follies of Reason                             |     |
| 1. Epistemic Vices and the Politics of Reason                    | 35  |
| 2. The Politics of Epistemic Injustice                           | 63  |
| Part II. Reason and Irrationality                         |     |
| 3. Freud, Drive Theory, and Reason                               | 93  |
| 4. Adorno and Horkheimer on the Dialectic of Reason              | 119 |
| Part III. From Reason to the Political                    |     |
| 5. Schmitt on the Political Decisionism of the Constituent-Power | 147 |
| 6. Laclau on the Politics of Hegemony                            | 170 |
| Part IV. Politics, Truth, and Epistemic Frames            |     |
| 7. Foucault on the Politics of Truth-Telling                     | 197 |
| 8. Butler and the Politics of Epistemic Frames                   | 225 |
| Conclusion: Universality, Social Reasoning, and Normativity      | 253 |
| Bibliography                                              | 280 |
| Index                                                     | 305 |