

City-making, Space and Spirituality

A Community-Based Urban Praxis with Reflections from South Africa

Stephan de Beer

Contents

List of figures	ix
List of tables	xi
A Preface: Stories, Being Storied, Re-Storying	xiii
Introduction: Why embark on this journey?	1
1 Introduction to the journey	1
2 The context of the journey	2
3 The central concern, proposition and point of departure	4
4 How do I approach this journey? Methodological considerations	5
5 Own assumptions on the journey	6
6 A (concise) clarification of key terms for the journey	7
7 Structure of the journey	10
8 An invitation on a journey	11
PART I
Epistemology – Identity – Methodology	17
1 “To know as we are known”: Towards a contextual-narrative planning epistemology	19
1 Journeying between the paradoxes	20
2 Shifting paradigms	22
3 Knowing together...	25
4 Towards a contextual-narrative approach	29
2 “Becoming like children”: Identity and urban praxis	41
1 Deconstructing modernist planning	41
2 The challenge of software infrastructure	45

3	Planning as a political act	47
4	Planning as a spiritual act	48
5	Re-imagining the art of planning	49
3	A praxis-approach to city-making: Critical moments in the urban journey	60
	Moment 1 Entering urban space	60
	Moment 2 Reading urban space	60
	Moment 3 Imagining urban space	60
	Moment 4 Co-constructing urban space	61
	At its core: the spirit of the planning process	61
	1.1 As “flâneur”...	62
	1.2 ...with the eyes of a child...	63
	1.3 ...seeking/choosing community...	64
	1.4 ...in the labyrinth/s; journeys of adventure	65
	2.1 Reading from the margins...	67
	2.2 ...deconstructing official narratives...	68
	2.3 ...discovering local wisdom; retrieving local narratives...	69
	2.4 Reading symbolic, nonverbal language	70
	3.1 ...imagining...	71
	3.2 ...nurturing intuition...	72
	3.3 A hermeneutic of suspicion and a hermeneutic of hunger	72
	3.4 Critical imagination of an alternative consciousness	73
	4.1 Journeys of co-construction	74
	4.2 Co-construction needs community	75
PART II
	Doing the city together	81
	FIRST MOMENT: Entering urban space	85
4	Personal and community narratives: Berea-Burgers Park and Tshwane’s inner city	87
	1 The story of a neighbourhood: Berea-Burgers Park	87
	2 Personal Reflections: 1973–2022	91
	3 The Rewriting of a Story: Narratives from Berea-Burgers Park and Tshwane’s Inner City	99

SECOND MOMENT: Reading urban space	139
5 Planners, participation, the poor	143
1 Perpetual dependence on outsiders: where are the people of the city?	143
2 How participatory is participation? Beyond theory toward radical participation/partnership	148
3 Where are the poor?	159
6 What has become of city-making?: Between fallacy, deficiency, commodity and conspiracy	167
1 How integrated is integrated urban development planning?	167
2 Deficiency-based planning models	171
3 The fallacy of urban renewal: displacement versus place-making	174
4 Urban space: commodity, gift or threat?	181
5 Conspiracies of silence: what planners do not speak about	183
THIRD MOMENT: Imagining urban space	191
7 Discovering an alternative imagination: towards a spirituality of urban space	193
On an 'alternative imagination'	193
On spirituality	194
On city-making as vocation	195
1 City as womb: beyond skyscraper and battered woman	196
2 City as cathedral of the soul	201
3 Clown city: a place of fantasy and festivity	207
Public art; the urban jester	209
Artful urban regeneration	211
4 City as community of communities	216
5 Sustainable cities, communal economies	222
6 Ethical cities	226
8 Embodying an alternative imagination: Practising an ethic of urban space	234
1 An embodied presence	234
2 Interconnected community	241
3 The power of people	250

FOURTH MOMENT: Constructing urban space	261
9 Communities and movements of hope: Between resistance and reconstruction	263
1 Communities of hope	263
2 Movements of interconnected communities	265
3 On resistance	267
4 On reconstruction	273
10 Fostering an integrated community-based urban praxis	284
1 Co-constructing the city	284
INTERRUPTION: A small portfolio of community-based urban engagements	285
Tshwane Leadership Foundation; Feast of the Clowns; Yeast City Housing	286
Berea Community Forum; Salvokop Development Forum; Tshwane Homelessness Forum	288
Burgers Park Village & Berea-Burgers Park Regeneration Initiative	291
2 The values, promise and limitations of community-based urban interventions	292
3 Cultivating every moment: the journey of a community-based urban praxis	294
4 Centering around the “mother bird hovering over urban space”	295
5 Fostering community: between resistance and reconstruction	296
6 Building on local assets: finding synergies; expanding tables	298
7 A multiplicity of small, local solidarities, reclamations & transformations	299
8 Weaving a net; spanning the city	300
9 Co-constructing hospitable, caring and just urban villages	301
Conclusion: Leading out faith-fully: when deep speaks to deep	305
Index	307

Figures

00.1	Mapping author's residence in Sunnyside and Burgers Park	xii
00.2	Curiosity	xx
0.1	Dualisms	1
0.2	Child's curiosity	2
0.3	Reasons for the study	4
0.4	Journey	10
1.1	Give me a break I am trying to find myself	16
1.2	The narrative approach	33
2.1	Playing	40
2.2	The changing role of a planner based on Oranje's text	51
2.3	Planning curriculum	56
3.1	Marabastad 01	59
3.2	Urban Praxis Cycle	62
3.3	Alternative consciousness	74
4.1	Remnant voices	80
4.2	Tshwane – Berea-Burgers Park and Sunnyside	83
4.3	Burgers Park Pavilion	88
4.4	Berea-Burgers Park	90
4.5	Inner city neighbourhood map	91
4.6	Sunnyside in the 1960s: southeastern corner of Esselen and Greeff Streets	93
4.7	Elim Church fire	94
4.8	Sunnyside today	98
4.9	Inner city shopping centres	105
4.10	Housing typologies in Berea-Burgers Park	116
4.11	Litakoemi, Visagie Street	108
4.12	Jubilee Centre, Burgers Park Lane	108
4.13	Schubart Park, Pretoria	110
4.14	Re-branding homelessness	114
4.15	Inner city churches	118
4.16	Marabastad in the 70s	127
4.17	Marabastad Urban Design Framework	128

4.18	Social infrastructure support and refugee support facilities in Pretoria inner city	129
5.1	Walking my tortoise	137
5.2	Tree of life	141
5.3	Through their eyes.	150
5.4	Marabastad and the skeletons of Schubart Park	162
5.5	Mandela Development Corridor (MDC).	163
7.1	Photo walk during the (un)shackled workshop	189
7.2	The spiralling journey	193
7.3	Befriending darkness	201
7.4	Re-branding homelessness II	204
7.5	March of the Clowns 2009	210
7.6	Bogota Mayor, Antanas Mockus, with his 'bullet proof' vest	211
7.7	Harlequin spaces	212
7.8	Schouwburgplein	213
7.9	Sustainability and peace	220
8.1	Nurturing an alternative imagination	233
8.2	Mother bird	238
8.3	Lots of flowers	240
9.1	Drawing of 'the ups and downs' by Jean Debuffer	259
10.1	Burgers Park Village	283
10.2	Journeys of Co-Construction	285
10.3	Feast of the Clowns logo	287
10.4	Basic needs identified	290
11.1	Abstract drawing of weather system over Greenland	304

Tables

1.1	A contextual approach	29
1.2	A contextual-narrative approach	37
11.1	A Community-based urban praxis	305