

Visual Power, Representation and Migration Law

Framing Migrants

Dorota Anna Gozdecka

EDINBURGH
University Press

Contents

List of Figures	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
PART I LAW AND THE ETHICS OF LOOKING
1 The Migrant in Our Gaze	11
Introduction	11
Ethics Interrupted at the Border	12
The Distinction Between Citizen, Migrant and Refugee	16
Gazing at the Migrant	20
Spectacle of the Border and Figures of the Migrant	23
Five Archetypal Figures of the Migrant	25
Conclusions	29
2 Looking, Feeling and Judging the Law	32
Introduction	32
Law and the Art of Visual Persuasion	33
The Image of Power and the Image of Law	37
Law, Justice and Legitimacy	39
Law, Visibility and Legal Persons	43
Archetypes and the Figures of Citizen and Migrant	45
Conclusions	47
PART II FIGURES OF THE MIGRANT
3 The Janus-Faced Refugee: The Interplay Between the ‘Genuine’ and the ‘Bogus’ Asylum Seeker	53
Introduction	53
The ‘Genuine’ and the ‘Bogus’ and Proving ‘Genuineness’	54
Victimhood, Suffering and the Host Gaze	57
The Frames of ‘Bogusness’ in Comics	59

The ‘Authentic’ Suffering of the Genuine	65
Legal Responses to Bogusness and the Rising Legal Threshold of Genuineness	67
Conclusions	69
4 The Spectre of the Invisible Illegal	73
Introduction	73
Why Illegality Often Remains Invisible	74
The ‘Illegal’ Migrant as a Haunting Spectre	76
The Hauntological Invisibility of the Migrant	78
British, Australian and American Spectropolitical Imagery of the Migrant	79
Out of Sight and Outside the Law	84
Conclusions	85
5 The Figure of the Absolute Other	89
Introduction	89
Exclusion Within and Inheriting ‘Migrant’ Status	90
Complex Forms of Racism and Visual Othering	92
Swiss Visual Campaigns on Banning Minarets and Migration	94
Subsequent Legal Changes	98
Who ‘Owns’ the Right to Regulate Access to Rights?	99
Conclusions	102
6 The Migrant as an Inhuman Mass	106
Introduction	106
The Flood and Homo Oeconomicus	107
Non-human People: Viruses and Bodies Without Organs	109
The Figure of the Mass in Visual Discourse	111
Brexit and the EU–Turkey Agreement: Keeping the ‘Mass’ at Bay	116
Conclusions	120
7 The Figure of the Innocent	124
Introduction	124
The Image of a Child and Ethics: The Puzzle of Children’s Autonomy	125
The Threshold of Innocence and Migrant Children	127
Aylan Kurdi’s Image: The Ultimate Innocent and the Challenge to Refugee Reception Laws	130
Challenging the Cruelty of Existing Legal Systems	132

Other Images of Migrant Children	134
Conclusions	136
PART III THE COMPLICITY OF THE PICTURE
8 The Challenge of Navigating the Ethics of Law in the Pictorial Era	143
Introduction	143
Can We Challenge the Broader Archetypes of Foreignness?	144
Do Pictures Really Influence Viewers?	145
Borders as Spaces Penalising Ethics	147
Conclusions	151
Conclusion	156
Bibliography	159
Index	179

Figures

3.1	NO WAY graphic novel, Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection, 2014	61
3.2	NO WAY graphic novel, Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection, 2014	62
3.3	NO WAY graphic novel, Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection, 2014	63
4.1	US Customs and Border Protection gallery, along US borders, 2016	81
4.2	NO WAY poster, Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection, 2014	82
5.1	'More Security' poster campaign, the Swiss People's Party (SVP), Alamy	97
6.1	'Breaking Point' poster campaign, UKIP, 2016, Alamy	111
6.2	Syrian refugee influx reporting, 2018, Alamy	113
7.1	Aylan Kurdi on a banner during a protest in Athens, original photograph, Nilüfer Demir, 2015, Alamy	130
7.2	Photo provided by US Customs and Border Protection to reporter on tour of Ursula detention facility in McAllen, Texas, 2018, Alamy	135