

Sacred Landscapes in Central Italy

Votive Deposits and Sanctuaries

(400 BC – AD 400)

Edited by

FABIANA FABBRI and ALESSANDRO SEBASTIANI

BREPOLS

Table of Contents

List of Illustrations	9
Fabiana Fabbri and Alessandro Sebastiani
1. Introduction	19
Section I Votive Deposits
Luca Attenni, Agnese Livia Fischetti, and Giuseppe Granata
2. The Votive Deposit of Pantanacci	35
Luca Attenni
3. A Dripstone or Votive Offering in the Shape of a Naval Prow from the Area of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita – Lanuvio (RM)	46
Fabiana Fabbri
4. The Votive Deposit of Podere Cannicci (Civitella Paganico – Grosseto)	55
Debora Rossi
5. Cults and Votive Deposits in the Middle Valley of the Fiora River	67
Jacopo Tabolli and Enrico Maria Giuffrè
6. The Sacred Landscape of Torraccia di Chiusi at San Gimignano between the Etruscans and the Romans	79
Laurel Taylor
7. Multum in Parvo Miniature Votives, Artisans, and Ritual at Cetamura del Chianti	89
Andrea Zifferero
8. Places of Worship and Votive Offerings in Roselle	101
Section II Sanctuaries
Marisa Bonamici and Emanuele Taccola
9. The Sanctuary of the Acropolis of Volterra A Place of Worship Through the Centuries	123
Francesca Ceci and Paola Di Silvio
10. The Sacred Places of Blera and its Territory	137
Elena Chirico
11. The Sanctuary of Talamonaccio	151

Nancy T. de Grummond
12. The Sanctuary of the Etruscan Artisans at Cetamura del Chianti	157
Maria Anna De Lucia Brolli
13. The Sanctuary of Monte Li Santi-Le Rote, Narce (Mazzano Romano-Calcata) Landscape and Cult Transformations of a Religious Complex from its Origins to Romanization	173
Ugo Fusco
14. Campetti, Southwest Area	185
Martin Jaillet and Edwige Lovergne
15. A Sacred Landscape on the Shores of Lake Bolsena New Discoveries from the Etruscan-Roman Sanctuary of Piana del Lago (2020–2022)	203
Laura Maria Michetti and Barbara Belelli Marchesini
16. Pyrgi's Sanctuary after Dionysus of Syracuse's Raid (384 BC) Votive Deposits, Rituals, Cults, and the Fruition of the Sacred Space	215
Alessandro Sebastiani
17. Back to Scoglietto: The Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis	229
Simonetta Stopponi
18. The Campo della Fiera at Orvieto: The fanum Voltumnae	245
Jacopo Tabolli and Emanuele Mariotti
19. Unlocking the Roman Sacred Landscape at San Casciano dei Bagni	259
Section III
Producing for the Sacred
Marco Cruciani
20. The Pottery Workshop in Campo della Fiera, Orvieto	277
Helga di Giuseppe
21. The Production of Black Gloss Ware for Sacred Areas between Demons and Gods	291
Alessandro M. Jaia
22. The Production of Votives in Lavinium	305
Section IV
Reflective Essays
Fabiana Fabbri
23. Waterscapes in Roman Times Sacredness of Springs and their Influence on Sanctuaries	317
Simona Rafanelli
24. A Domestic Cult. The Votive Bronze Statuettes from the Domus of the Dolia of Vetulonia	329
Edoardo Vanni
25. A Liquid Goddess Artumes/Diana in Etruria and the Construction of Landscapes in Southern Tuscany	349

List of Illustrations

1. Introduction – Fabiana Fabbri and Alessandro Sebastiani

Map 1.1.	General map of Central Italy indicating the places mentioned in the volume.	18
----------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

2. The Votive Deposit of Pantanacci – Luca Attenni, Agnese Livia Fischetti, and Giuseppe Granata

Figure 2.1.	Votive vault, plan of the current state.	36
Figure 2.2.	Anatomical votive-oral cavity.	37
Figure 2.3.	Four blocks of peperino with engraved scales.	38
Figure 2.4.	The black spots on one of the oral cavities.	40
Figure 2.5.	The black spots on one of the veiled heads.	40
Figure 2.6.	Traces of white colour on the whole surface.	41
Figure 2.7.	Traces of orange colour on of one veiled head.	41
Figure 2.8.	Combined technique used in processing the torso with intestines.	43

3. A Dripstone or Votive Offering in the Shape of a Naval Prow from the Area of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita – Lanuvio (RM) – Luca Attenni

Figure 3.1.	Lanuvium. Aerial view of the southern slope of the hill of San Lorenzo; highlighted archaeological structures recovered at the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita.	46
Figure 3.2.	The Sanctuary of Juno Sospita after Pasqui's excavations (Dis. I Gismondi); highlighted are the excavation areas of 2006–2010. The temple is marked in blue, while the terraces of the ex Frediani-Dionigi's Olive Grove are in red.	46
Figure 3.3.	Lanuvium. The cella of the Temple of Juno Sospita, showing the trench of the oval hut and trench V of the rectangular hut.	48
Figure 3.4.	Lanuvium. Aerial picture of the western side of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita.	48
Figure 3.5.	Lanuvium. Aerial picture of the 2021 excavation areas at the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita, highlighting the newly discovered structures.	49
Figure 3.6.	Plan of the structures recorded at the feet of the terrace.	49
Figure 3.7.	Structures in the eastern terrace during the excavations in 2006.	50
Figure 3.8.	The portion of the porticus of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita restored by Vincenzo Seratrice in 1889.	50
Figure 3.9.	General view of the excavation area. The pillar is located in the southwest part.	51
Figure 3.10.	Lanuvium, via Giacomo Matteotti and Parco della Rimembranza. View of the excavations highlighting the ancient structures.	51
Figure 3.11.	Lanuvium, via Giacomo Matteotti. Structures of the first terrace of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita.	52
Figure 3.12.	Plan of the area of the Sanctuary of Juno Sospita highlighting (#2) the place where the dripstone in the shape of naval prow was recovered.	52
Figure 3.13.	Dripstone in the shape of naval prow.	53

4. The Votive Deposit of Podere Cannicci (Civitella Paganico – Grosseto) – Fabiana Fabbri

Figure 4.1.	Votive deposit from Podere Cannicci: a) fragment of a draped statuette; b) fr. of a statuette; c) fr. of a leg; d) fr. of a votive head; e) fr. of a small head.	56
Figure 4.2.	Votive uteri from Podere Cannicci: a) form 1; b) form 1, variant 1; c) form 1, variant 2; d) form 2; e) form 3; f) form 4; g) form 5; h) form 6.	58
Figure 4.3.	Records of fictile votive uteri of the 'smooth ovoid or with large striations' type and the population of the Ombrone valley in the Hellenistic Period.	60
Figure 4.4.	a) Votive uterus from Saturnia; b) Votive uterus from Rusellae ; c) – d) Scattered votive uteri from the Orbetello area.	61
Figure 4.5.	a) Small cippus; b) Breast; c) Loom weight; d) Bronze bovine statuette; e) Black gloss cup.	62

5. Cults and Votive Deposits in the Middle Valley of the Fiora River – Debora Rossi

Figure 5.1.	Distribution map of votive deposits, sanctuaries, and sporadic materials of the Hellenistic period in the middle valley of the Fiora River.	68
Figure 5.2.	Pitigliano. Quattro Strade. Aerial picture of the archaeological excavations of the Roman domus with indication of the area of the votive materials.	69
Figure 5.3.	Pitigliano. Quattro Strade. Votive materials (end of the fourth and beginning of the third century BC).	69
Figure 5.4.	Pitigliano. Pantano (Tosteto). Some diagnostic votive materials from the end of the fourth and beginning of the third century BC.	71
Figure 5.5.	Sovana. Museum of San Mamiliano. Votive materials from the Cavone stipe (end of the fourth or beginning of the third century BC).	73
Figure 5.6.	Pitigliano. Valle Rodeta. Lead votive figurines with onomastic inscription.	74
Figure 5.7.	Vulci and its territory before and after the Roman conquest in 280 BC.	75

6. The Sacred Landscape of Torraccia di Chiusi at San Gimignano between the Etruscans and the Romans – Jacopo Tabolli and Enrico Maria Giuffrè

Figure 6.1.	Location of San Gimignano on the map of Northern Etruria.	80
Figure 6.2.	The area of Torraccia di Chiusi and the River Fosci. The star identifies the location of the sacred area.	80
Figure 6.3.	Hinthial .	81
Figure 6.4.	The altar during the 2011 excavation.	83
Figure 6.5.	The unguentaria discovered in the votive deposit.	84
Figure 6.6.	Denarius Marcus Mettius (44 BC). Venus holds the Victory and shield.	85

7. Multum in Parvo – Laurel Taylor

Figure 7.1.	Artisans' Quarter, Zone II, Cetamura del Chianti.	90
Figure 7.2.	Building L (the sanctuary), Zone II, Cetamura del Chianti.	91
Figure 7.3.	Votive Feature 1 showing miniature cup.	92
Figure 7.4.	Perforated miniature cup from Votive Feature 5.	92
Figure 7.5.	Miniature cups and Structure K.	94
Figure 7.6.	Miniature cup with handle from structure J.	94
Figure 7.7.	Miniature cup types from structure B.	95
Figure 7.8.	Black gloss miniature krateriskos from Well #1.	94
Figure 7.9.	Miniature cup in Cetamura Fabric 3.	95
Figure 7.10.	Miniature cup in Cetamura Fabric 4.	95

8. Places of Worship and Votive Offerings in Roselle – Andrea Zifferero

Figure 8.1.	Roselle: layout of the urban area indicating the location of the main monuments mentioned in the text and the areas excavated between 2018 and 2019 (Area 4000 and Area 5000).	102
Figure 8.2.	Roselle: zenith view of the urban area, showing the location of the excavations and the areas of intervention planned in the 2019–2020 excavation concession. 1 = Monumental Fountain ; 2 = Northern Hill, Roman Block ; 3 = Forum Area, Archaic Temple ; 4 = Forum Area, so-called Cardo Maximus ; 5 = Southern Hill, Tempelterrasse ; 6–7 = Southern Hill, Casa Mazzi area; 8 = Southern Hill, Artisan's Quarter ; 9–10 = Southern Hill, Aldobrandeschi Tower area; 11 = Southern Hill, Gate 5 .	102
Figure 8.3.	Roselle and Poggio di Moscona: supposed distribution of Protohistoric (mainly Iron Age) necropolises.	104
Figure 8.4.	Poggio di Moscona: Digital Elevation Model (DEM) of the summit area, shot with drone photogrammetry: note the existence of an offset plane, and the central position of the so-called Tino di Moscona .	105
Figure 8.5.	Poggio di Moscona: layout of the Castle of Montecurliano ; below, photo of the wall elevations and of the Tino di Moscona .	106
Figure 8.6.	Roselle, Forum Valley: layout of the extant portion of the Building with Enclosure (B and C), cut by the Two-Roomed House (H); depicted with a screen, Hut A (Recent Iron Age) and Huts E and F (Orientalizing period).	108
Figure 8.7.	Roselle, Forum Valley: layout of the Western Terracing , with the Archaic Temple building (A ₁ and A ₂), and the path, lined with steps in the Roman period (E), that led to the so-called Auguraculum (F); in red, the dry-stone walls dated to the Etruscan period (B, the lowest), with an orientation similar to the Archaic Temple ; the asterisks show the position of the two votive deposits within the Building with Enclosure (G).	109
Figure 8.8.	Selection of fine clay vases (nos 1–2), black bucchero (nos 3–4), bucceroid impasto (no. 5), and grey bucchero (no. 6) from the votive deposit inside the Building with Enclosure , near the southern perimeter wall.	110
Figure 8.9.	Roselle, Forum Valley: apograph of the inscription traced on raw clay on the upper part of a loom weight, mentioning the theonym Veī .	111
Figure 8.10.	Roselle, Northern Hill: orthophoto layout of the residential block (Area 5000), showing the Rooms and the identified Masonry Stratigraphic Units.	112
Figure 8.11.	Roselle, Southern Hill: zenith view of the Tempelterrasse sector (Area 4000), explored during the 2018–2019 excavations.	113
Figure 8.12.	Roselle, Southern Hill: layout of the so-called Artisan's Quarter .	114
Figure 8.13.	Roselle, Southern Hill: apograph of an incomplete graffito traced on the body of a large red impasto vase, mentioning the theonym Tinia .	114

9. The Sanctuary of the Acropolis of Volterra – Marisa Bonamici and Emanuele Taccola

Figure 9.1.	General plan of the sanctuary of the Acropolis.	124
Figure 9.2.	Selection of architectural terracottas from the archaic temple (a) and the late archaic temple (b).	125
Figure 9.3.	Virtual reconstruction of the late archaic temple.	125
Figure 9.4.	Virtual reconstruction of the Hellenistic phase of the sanctuary.	128
Figure 9.5.	First-pictorial style fresco from the Temple of Demeter.	128
Figure 9.6.	Heads of terracotta figurines depicting the divinity papa .	130
Figure 9.7.	Fragment of a terracotta figurine depicting Demeter sitting.	130
Figure 9.8.	Cultural installations of precincts III (above) and I (below).	131
Figure 9.9.	Fragment of a terracotta banqueter figurine.	133
Figure 9.10.	Hellenistic torches (a) and roman lamps (b) used for nocturnal processions.	133

10. The Sacred Places of Blera and its Territory – Francesca Ceci and Paola Di Silvio

Figure 10.1.	General view of the medieval district of Blera and the Biedano Valley.	138
Figure 10.2.	Reconstructed plan of Blera with its necropolises.	138
Figure 10.3.	Distribution of urban centres in the Biedano region, with the sanctuary of Blera, San Giuliano, San Giovenale, Grotta Porcina, Macchia delle Valli.	139
Figure 10.4.	Blera, La Lega sanctuary, the excavated area.	140
Figure 10.5.	The burial tumulus of Grotta Porcina (Vetralla).	142
Figure 10.6.	Remains of the small temple of Grotta Porcina.	142
Figure 10.7.	Macchia delle Valli or Demetra Sanctuary (Vetralla).	143
Figure 10.8.	Viterbo, Museo Nazionale della Rocca Alborno: reconstruction of the sacellum of Demetra.	144
Figure 10.9.	Viterbo, Museo Nazionale della Rocca Alborno: votive materials from Macchia delle Valli Sanctuary.	144
Figure 10.10.	Barbarano Romano, Museo delle Necropoli Rupestri: anatomical ex votos from La Noce Sanctuary (San Giuliano).	146
Figure 10.11.	Gravestone with a dedicatory inscription to Apollo from La Noce sanctuary.	147

11. The Sanctuary of Talamonaccio – Elena Chirico

Figure 11.1.	Map of the locations mentioned in text.	152
Figure 11.2.	Reconstruction of the various fragments of the decoration of the pediment of the temple.	153
Figure 11.3.	Plan of the temple.	153

12. The Sanctuary of the Etruscan Artisans at Cetamura del Chianti – Nancy T. de Grummond

Figure 12.1.	Cetamura. View of courtyard of Building L, with cavity and interior rock of the third century BC. On the right, Altar # 2 of the second century BC. Beyond Altar 2, on the left, the backfilled Votive Feature 1, dating to the last quarter of the second century BC.	158
Figure 12.2.	Cetamura. View of Altar 1 in Building L. Date uncertain.	163
Figure 12.3.	Cetamura. Pitcher from Votive Feature 1A. Last quarter of the second century BC.	164
Figure 12.4.	Cetamura. View into Well # 2. c. 300 BC.	166
Figure 12.5.	Cetamura. Bronze votive figurine from Well # 2. Second century BC.	166
Figure 12.6.	Cetamura. View of Dolios A and B during excavation.	167
Figure 12.7.	Cetamura. View of walls in the storage area outside Building L. c. 300 BC.	168
Map 12.1.	Map of central Italy showing location of Cetamura del Chianti.	157
Map 12.2.	Cetamura del Chianti. General site plan (2018).	160
Map 12.3.	Cetamura. Plan of Etruscan Sanctuary, Building L, and surrounding area.	161
Map 12.4.	Cetamura. Map of artisans' quarter.	162

13. The Sanctuary of Monte Li Santi-Le Rote, Narce (Mazzano Romano-Calcata) – Maria Anna De Lucia Brolli

Figure 13.1.	The territory of Narce and the suburban sanctuaries on the banks of the Treja.	174
Figure 13.2.	The investigated area: general layout with indication of the main cult areas.	174
Figure 13.3.	Sacellum AA: layout showing the foundation rituals along the outer perimeter. Black asterisks refer to the statuettes of the nutrix goddess (upper left photo); white asterisks to the enthroned female figures (lower left photo); oblique hatchings mark the area of consecration rites performed at the base of the ambitus .	175
Figure 13.4.	Plan of Enclosure A. A: the foundation pit (in dark grey) for the construction of the western wall, consecrated with the ritual deposition of masks (Ceremony of the Masks , circa mid-third century BC); B: northwestern corner of the Enclosure with evidence of the abandonment rites of the sanctuary (Rite of the Keys , late second century BC circa).	177

Figure 13.5.	Enclosure A, Ceremony of the Masks : groups of rectangular masks on display at the Museo Archeologico Virtuale of Narce at Mazzano Romano, as they appeared at the moment of their discovery.	178
Figure 13.6.	View of Area D from the west: Altar III (A) and the cippi dedicated to Minerva Maia (B) and Fortuna (C); in the background are visible the foundations of the so-called Grande Platea.	180
Figure 13.7.	Layout of Area D with the altars and votive deposits SU 166 and SU 180.	181

14. Campetti, Southwest Area – Ugo Fusco

Figure 14.1.	A. Map with the localization of the sacred areas of Veii, the black circle corresponds to the site under examination.	186
Figure 14.2.	A. Plan of the underground tunnels with a reconstruction of the fracture lines and photo of a fracture.	187
Figure 14.3.	Interpretative plan of the Etruscan sanctuary (Period II, phase 3).	189
Figure 14.4.	A. Inscription on a vase mentioning the goddess Tina.	190
Figure 14.5.	Interpretative plan of Period III, phase 2.	191
Figure 14.6.	Interpretative plan of Period IV, phase 4.	192
Figure 14.7.	A. Marble frieze with an anthemion consisting of alternating palmettes facing up and down.	193
Figure 14.8.	A. Emblema of a young woman of a pale complexion.	194
Figure 14.9.	Interpretative plan of Period V, phase 1.	196
Figure 14.10.	A. Photo from helicopter of Building F.	197
Figure 14.11.	A. Relief probably depicting the goddess Hygieia.	198

15. A Sacred Landscape on the Shores of Lake Bolsena – Martin Jaillet and Edwige Lovergne

Figure 15.1.	Location map of three possible frontier sanctuaries around Lake Bolsena, including Piana del Lago.	204
Figure 15.2.	View of Lake Bolsena from Montefiascone, looking west. The sanctuary of Piana del Lago is marked by a white star.	204
Figure 15.3.	Plan of the sanctuary of Piana del Lago with indication of the structures and areas excavated per year.	205
Figure 15.4.	The set of eleven bronze votive figures found during the 2020–2022 campaigns in the sanctuary of Piana del Lago.	206
Figure 15.5.	The irregular tephrite bedrock on which building D is directly set.	207
Figure 15.6.	Terracotta face fragment found in temple A (2021).	208
Figure 15.7.	Doll's leg found in the portico (2020).	209

16. Pyrgi's Sanctuary after Dionysus of Syracuse's Raid (384 BC) – Laura Maria Michetti and Barbara Beelli Marchesini

Figure 16.1.	A:Pyrgi. Map showing the extension of the Etruscan site and the Roman colony; B: Map of the Monumental and the Southern Sanctuary.	216
Figure 16.2.	Pyrgi, Monumental Sanctuary, Temple A. Reconstruction model (d) and architectural terracottas pertaining to the decoration of the rear (a) and front (b-c) pediments.	218
Figure 16.3.	Pyrgi, Monumental Sanctuary. Selection of metal and ceramic objects (a–h) from the filling of Temple A's pits (A); the three golden Tablets (i) from Temple B and their burial place (B) in area C.	219
Figure 16.4.	Pyrgi, map of the Southern Sanctuary.	221
Figure 16.5.	Pyrgi, Southern Sanctuary. Selection of moulded votive terracottas (a–c) from building alpha and black gloss pottery (d–m) from the cups deposit.	222
Figure 16.6.	Pyrgi, Southern Sanctuary. Selection of votive offerings from pit omicron (a–l); jug and cup (n–o) ritually deposited next altar iota (m).	223
Figure 16.7.	'Pyrgi, Public Ceremonial Quarter. Republican and imperial votive offerings'.	225

17. Back to Scoglietto: The Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis – Laura Maria Michetti and Barbara Belelli Marchesini

Figure 17.1.	The area at the mouth of the Ombrone River with the Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis and other Roman period sites mentioned in the text.	230
Figure 17.2.	The Republican Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — plan.	231
Figure 17.3.	The Republican Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — the bronze statuette depicting a dog.	232
Figure 17.4.	The First Imperial Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — plan.	232
Figure 17.5.	The First Imperial Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — the cistern.	232
Figure 17.6.	The Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — the road leading to the sanctuary cut into the natural slopes and bedrock of Scoglietto.	233
Figure 17.7.	The Imperial Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — plan.	234
Figure 17.8.	The mid-Imperial Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — plan.	235
Figure 17.9.	The late Roman Sanctuary of Diana Umbronensis — the fragment of the marble statue recovered in the destruction layers.	236
Figure 17.10.	The Byzantine-Period occupation of the hill — photo of the sunken hut.	237
Table 17.1.	Summary of the different phases of the sanctuary.	231

18. The Campo della Fiera at Orvieto: The fanum Voltumnae – Laura Maria Michetti and Barbara Belelli Marchesini

Figure 18.1.	Plan of the excavation (2022).	246
Figure 18.2.	Terracotta male head on base in the shape of an altar.	247
Figure 18.3.	Hypothetical reconstruction of Temple C.	248
Figure 18.4.	Donarium and altar (left) in the enclosure of Temple A.	251
Figure 18.5.	Reconstruction of the two thermal baths.	252
Figure 18.6.	Marble portrait bust from Campo della Fiera.	253
Figure 18.7.	Portrait bust from the Galleria Chiaramonti.	253
Figure 18.8.	Constantinian period fibula with she-wolf and twins.	254

19. Unlocking the Roman Sacred Landscape at San Casciano dei Bagni – Jacopo Tabolli and Emanuele Mariotti

Figure 19.1.	Etruscan and Roman sanctuaries and votive deposits.	260
Figure 19.2.	The putto of San Casciano dei Bagni.	263
Figure 19.3.	View of the sanctuary.	264
Figure 19.4.	The sanctuary and its phases. Phase 1, red; Phase 2, light blue; Phase 3, green; Phase 4, orange; Phase 5, purple; in grey the Medici Portico.	266
Figure 19.5.	The bull.	267
Figure 19.6.	The inscribed altars discovered at Bagno Grande. a. Fortuna Primigenia; b. Apollo; c. Isis.	268
Figure 19.7.	Collapsed ruins underneath the Medici portico at Bagno Grande.	270

20. The Pottery Workshop in Campo della Fiera, Orvieto – Marco Cruciani

Figure 20.1.	The sacred area of Temple B.	278
Figure 20.2.	Circular kiln.	279
Figure 20.3.	Pottery dump next to the entrance.	280
Figure 20.4.	Reconstructive sketch of the kiln floor.	280
Figure 20.5.	The two circular kilns, side by side.	281
Figure 20.6.	Remains of the rectangular based kiln.	283
Figure 20.7.	Orvieto, St Domenico kilns.	284
Figure 20.8.	Reconstruction of the workshop's production phases.	286

21. The Production of Black Gloss Ware for Sacred Areas between Demons and Gods – Helga di Giuseppe

Figure 21.1.	Distribution map of black gloss ware workshops in Italy identified through kilns and indirect indicators: 323 workshops distributed in 177 localities. In 105 localities (59 per cent) 252 kilns have been documented, in 72 localities (39 per cent) only indirect indicators of production.	292
Figure 21.2.	Quantitative comparison between black gloss ware workshops from the fourth to the first century BC identified thanks to kilns and indirect indicators.	294
Figure 21.3.	Percentage comparison between types of contexts in which kilns and indirect indicators of black gloss ware ceramic were identified divided into two chronological bands: fourth–third centuries BC (total sites 131) and second–first centuries BC (total sites 76).	295
Figure 21.4.	Percentage comparison of black gloss ware workshops from the fourth to the first century BC.	295
Figure 21.5.	Top left: typical decorations of the Calena ceramics. Right: Faliscan pottery of the atelier 1 + 5 type. Below: Aesis workshops.	297
Figure 21.6.	Above: Ceramics produced in the Adriatic area; below: common pottery produced in Seenigallia.	298
Figure 21.7.	Naples. Patera mesonphalica by Kaesos Serponios with details of the interior decoration and the inscription.	299
Figure 21.8.	Corinthian Pinax depicting the potter Lokres feeding the kiln in the presence of a small ithyphallic satyr, interpreted as a demon of the kiln, towering in a provocative attitude above the prae-furnium . To act as a counterpoint at the top, Athena, as an owl, invoked to protect all the arts.	300

22. The Production of Votives in Lavinium – Alessandro M. Jaja

Figure 22.1.	Lavinium's cult sites: 1. votive deposit of the Sanctuary of Minerva; 2–3. votive deposits in the eastern sector of the settlement; 4. the area of the Guild of Dendrophors; 5. the large urban Temple on the short northern side of the Forum; 6. Sanctuary of the Thirteen Altars; 7. Sanctuary of Sol Indiges.	306
Figure 22.2.	Lavinium, 'ancient' deposit. Turned and unturned impasto miniature reproductions of globular jars for liquids.	307
Figure 22.3.	Lavinium, Sanctuary of the Thirteen Altars.	308
Figure 22.4.	Lavinium, deposit of the Sanctuary of Minerva: statue of offeror (460 BC).	309
Figure 22.5.	Lavinium, deposit of the Sanctuary of Minerva: statue of Minerva Tritonia (fifth century BC).	310
Figure 22.6.	Lavinium, deposit of the Sanctuary of Minerva: female figure with diademed heads and richly jewelled parures (last quarter of fourth century BC).	311
Figure 22.7.	Lavinium, deposit of the Sanctuary of Minerva: male figure with veiled head (end of fourth century BC).	311

23. Waterscapes in Roman Times – Fabiana Fabbri

Figure 23.1.	Sanctuary of Sulis Minerva at Bath: the spring's reservoir , phase 2.	318
Figure 23.2a.	Sanctuary of Sulis Minerva at Bath, the spring's reservoir , phase 3.	319
Figure 23.2b.	Sanctuary of Sulis Minerva at Bath, the spring's reservoir , phase 4.	319
Figure 23.3a.	The Sanctuary of Jebel Oust.	321
Figure 23.3b.	The Sanctuary of Jebel Oust. The source and the temple.	321
Figure 23.4.	The Water Sanctuary at Nimes.	322
Figure 23.5.	Vicarelo, thermal spring and basin.	323
Figure 23.6a.	The water source of the Aisillo Sanctuary.	324
Figure 23.6b.	Aisillo Sanctuary, the double armilla shaped basin.	324
Figure 23.7a.	Bagno di Romagna Water Sanctuary.	325
Figure 23.7b.	The thermal sanctuary at Sasso Pisano.	325

24. A Domestic Cult. The Votive Bronze Statuettes from the Domus of the Dolia of Vetulonia – Simona Rafanelli

Figure 24.1.	The Domus of the Dolia at Poggiarello Renzetti in Vetulonia.	330
Figure 24.2.	Domus of the Dolia, aerial view of the sequence of rooms abutting the hill. In the foreground, Room G.	331
Figure 24.3.	Domus of the Dolia. The assemblage of bronze votives discovered on the floor of Room G.	333
Figure 24.4a–d.	Bronze statuette of a worshipper with a pad from Room G of the Domus of the Dolia.	334
Figure 24.5a–d.	Bronze statuette of a praying person with a crown of leave from Room G of the Domus of the Dolia.	337
Figure 24.6a–c.	Statuette of haruspex from Room G of the Domus of the Dolia.	340
Figure 24.7a–c.	Bronze cimasa of a candelabra from Room G of the Domus of the Dolia.	341

25. A Liquid Goddess – Edoardo Vanni

Figure 25.1.	Mirror from Orvieto with Artumes riding a pair of deer.	350
Figure 25.2.	Inscribed sceptre from Orvieto with Artumes .	352
Figure 25.3.	The crescent moon from Città della Pieve, whose inscription reads Mi Tiiurś Kabuniia(n)ś ul (I am Moon, daughter of the Sun).	353
Figure 25.4.	Poggio Sillene and Mezzomiglio.	354
Figure 25.5.	Kylix from Rusellae with an inscription to Artumes .	356
Figure 25.6.	Statuette of Artemis from Talamonaccio and the locality of Bagnacci where there is sulphurous water.	357
Figure 25.7.	Kantarhos with Pothnia Theron from Murlo.	358
Figure 25.8.	The two severe style head terracottas from Seggiano.	359
Figure 25.9.	The Amiata massif divided into vertical and horizontal functional hierarchies.	360
Figure 25.10.	Micromobility (Least Cost Path analysis) and visibility (Viewshed analysis) of the area.	361