

Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
About the Contributors	xii
An Anthropocentric Approach to Evil	1
MUHAMMAD U. FARUQUE AND MOHAMMED RUSTOM
1 Remarks on Evil, Suffering, and the Global Pandemic	7
SEYYED HOSSEIN NASR
2 The Existential Threat of Climate Change: A Practical Application of Avicenna's Theory of Evil	14
ROSABEL ANSARI
3 On Self-Knowledge, Divine Trial, and Discipleship	29
MUKHTAR H. ALI
4 Necessitated Evil: An Islamic Neoplatonic Theodicy From the Ismaili Tradition	44
KHALIL ANDANI
5 Seyyed Hossein Nasr's Metaphysical Theodicy	67
JUSTIN CANCELLIERE
6 Hume on Trial: Can Evil and Suffering Be Justified?	89
MUHAMMAD U. FARUQUE
7 Cultivating Prayerful Presence at the Bedside: From Mastery Towards Mystery	111
HINA KHALID

8	The Gifts of Suffering and the Virtues of the Heart	143
	ATIF KHALIL
9	Cain, Systemic Evil, and Our Inhumanity	158
	MARTIN NGUYEN
10	Practical Muslim Theodicy: A Ghazalian Perspective on Emotional Pain	164
	JOEL RICHMOND
11	The Student and the Sage	178
	MOHAMMED RUSTOM
12	Trials as Transformation in Islamic Chaplaincy	187
	AILYA VAJID
13	Transformative Love Amid Suffering in Hilmi Ziya Ülken	201
	TARANEH WILKINSON
14	Suffering as Metaphysical Narrative: Exploring an Islamic Theodicy of Authorship	214
	CYRUS ALI ZARGAR
	Index	227